

EndNote Direct Export Instructions

Remember: Check your references after exporting to make sure that they are accurate.

Annual Reviews	Open the reference which you wish to import. Click on the Download to Citation Manager link. At next screen, check Citation and abstract for this article and the EndNote option. Ensure Enable quick import into citation manager is checked. Click on Download chapter metadata button. When prompted, choose to Open the file. Your EndNote software will now open. You will be asked to Select a Reference Library. Choose the library where you wish to store the references. They will then be imported into that library.
Biological and Agricultural Index Plus	Mark the records which you wish to download. Click on Get Marked to open up marked references. Click on Exporting/Citing link on top of the page. Select The EndNote Filter from the Download Record(s) into section. Click on Export.

	When prompted, choose to Open the file. Your EndNote software will now open. You will be asked to Select a Reference Library. Select the WilsonWeb import filter and click on Choose. Your references will be imported into the library you chose.
EBSCOhost	When your search results are displayed, identify the references which you wish to download. Click on the Add to folder icon to add a reference to your folder. When you have finished selecting records, click on the Folder link at the top of the screen. This will display the references in your folder in a new window. Use the Select All command to select all references in the folder. At the top of the list of references, click on the Export icon. This will open a new window. Check the radio button beside Direct Export to EndNote, ProCite, or Reference Manager. Then click on the Save button. Your EndNote software will now open. You will be asked to Select a Reference Library. Choose the library where you wish to store the references. They will then be imported into that library.
EMBASE	Mark the records which you wish to download.

	Click on the Export link. When new window opens, use the drop-down menu to select EndNote and click on the Export button. When prompted, Open the file of references. Your EndNote software will now open. You will be asked to Select a Reference Library. Choose the library where you wish to store the references. They will then be imported into that library.
ERIC	Click Add to add references to the clipboard (maximum of 50 records). Click on ... items in My Clipboard to view the clipboard. When clipboard is displayed, check each record and click on Export Citations. Select file type Citation Manager File. Click on Download. When prompted, Open the file of references. Your EndNote software will now open. You will be asked to Select a Reference Library. Choose the library where you wish to store the references. They will then be imported into that library.
Index Veterinarius Note: Some HTML codes visible	Mark the records which you wish to download. At the bottom of your screen, select

	EndNote from your dropdown box. Click Export. Your EndNote software will now open. You will be asked to Select a Reference Library. Choose the library where you wish to store the references. They will then be imported into that library.
IngentaConnect	Check the boxes beside the references you wish to download. Click on update marked list. Under Tools select Bookmarking Options and click on Marked List. Once your marked list is displayed, under Tools select Export Options and click on EndNote. Your EndNote software will now open. You will be asked to Select a Reference Library. Choose the library where you wish to store the references. They will then be imported into that library.
Journals @ Ovid/ Nursing @ Ovid	Check the boxes beside the references you wish to download. Click on Results Manager at the top or bottom of the page to expand the box. Under Results Format select Direct Export. Under Actions select Save. If an "Opening ovidweb.cgi" box appears, use the drop down menu to select to open

	with the EndNote program and click OK. Click OK again. Your EndNote software will now open. You will be asked to Select a Reference Library. Choose the library where you wish to store the references. The "Choose An Import Filter" box will open in EndNote. Select "MEDLINE-In Process (Ovid SP)" from the list and click Choose. They references will then be imported into that library. NOTE: A blank reference will be downloaded with your other references. You can delete the reference by dragging to the Trash folder in EndNote.
ScienceDirect	Check the boxes beside the references you wish to download. Click on the export citations button at the top of the list of references. This will display the export citations screen. At the Content Format option, select Citations and Abstracts At the Export Format option, select RIS format Click on the Export button. Your EndNote software will now open. You will be asked to Select a Reference Library. Choose the library where you wish to store the references. They will then be

	imported into that library.
SpringerLink	Add citation to list by clicking Add to Marked Items. Click on Marked Items link and select the boxes next to the citations you wish to export. Select the Download this List icon. Under Export the citations from your current list of items select RIS format. When prompted, Open the file. Your EndNote software will now open. You will be asked to Select a Reference Library. Choose the library where you wish to store the references. They will then be imported into that library.
Web of Science	Check the boxes beside the references you wish to download. Click on Add to Marked List Display your marked references. To include the abstract in the imported reference, select abstract field in step 1. In step 2 select Save to EndNote, RefMan, ProCite. Click Export Your EndNote software will now open. You will be asked to Select a Reference Library. Choose the library where you wish to store the references. They will then be

	imported into that library.
Wiley Interscience	Check the boxes beside the references which you wish to download. Click Download Selected Citations. For format select EndNote. Click Go. When prompted, Open the file. Your EndNote software will now open. You will be asked to Select a Reference Library. Choose the library where you wish to store the references. They will then be imported into that library.