Out & About:
Librarians as Teachers

The librarians at Harriet K. & Philip Pumerantz Library have been increasingly asked to teach various topics from Evidence-Based Practice to Health Literacy to How to do research. The librarians have been following current trends in instruction such as the Flipped or Inverted Classroom model where the didactic portion is recorded and the students come to class to do their “homework”. If you have any questions or would like the librarians to come and teach on a specific topic, please contact the library at reference@westernu.edu.

Help the University Archives!

Do you remember the old pharmacy display in the HPC Building?

How long was it on display?

Who maintained the display?

If you have the answer to these questions and would like to reminisce about the pharmacy display or can provide interesting tidbits of information please email the assistant archivist, Azalea Camacho at acamacho@westernu.edu to share what you know and help preserve the history of the university.
