The College of Osteopathic Medicine of the Pacific invites you to “An Evening of Dermatology” featuring discussions from leading experts in the field. For questions contact Amanda Yochum, via email at ayochum@westernu.edu

September 16, 2015
5:00 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.
Western University of Health Sciences
HEC Lecture Hall 1

Laurie Woll, DO – Associate Professor of Medicine at Western University of Health Sciences – College of Osteopathic Medicine of the Pacific.

Title: Surviving Dermatological Dilemmas
5:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.
Topic Issue: The topic is relevant as it will assist practicing physicians in diagnosing and treating Dermatological disorders.

William Chow, DO – College of Osteopathic Medicine of the Pacific – Class of 1982

Title: Mohs Micrographic Surgery for treatment of cutaneous malignancies
6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.
Topic Issue: As our population ages and lives longer; rates of skin cancer has increased dramatically. This presentation discusses one of the treatment options for the most commonly treated skin cancers.

This program has been approved by the AOA Council on Continuing Medical Education for two (2) hours of AOA Category 1-A credit.